Ian, I am attorney who provides legal services for Corizon. As you know, Corizon has filed for bankruptcy. I understand that you claim to represent a former Corizon employee in a lawsuit in which that person is named as a defendant and which arises out of their employment with Corizon. You also represent plaintiffs in cases against Corizon. This situation appears to create a conflict of interest for you. Can you please advise how you do not have a conflict in representing a former employee of Corizon?
